No-Picture Rule Old One U.S. Contends

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Alex Washburn, editor of the Hope Star, has renewed his attack on what he terms unnecessary federal spending.

Washburn charged the government Saturday with exercising censorship of the press by prohibiting picture taking in the interior of the new House office building at Washington.

He made the charge in a column published in the Star.

Washburn said a Washington source quoted the Capitol architect's office as saying no pictures are allowed because there has been so much criticism of the structure.

But the House speaker's office, which has charge of the building, said picture ban is the result of an old rule designed to prevent photographers from exploiting the Capitol and other federal buildings for publicity purposes.

The rule has been in effect for decades, the speaker's office said. A spokesman said news photographers would be allowed to take pictures of the building's interior on a specified date after its completion.

"Mounting public criticism of the $85 million super-new House building, the most expensive building in the world, has caused Washingtonians to crack down with press censorship," Washburn wrote.

He said his Washington source told him that the cost of the building got out of control because House members were demanding individual treatment for each of their offices.

"The public has got a right to see where its money goes," Washburn said. "As reporter for the public, the press has the right to photograph the building's interior."

Washburn said the press also has the right to demand that the photographic ban be lifted. He said he would take the issue to the floor of Congress if necessary.

"Surely, even if the appeal of the press is denied, there is someone among the 435 members of the House who will rise and help strike down this wall of secrecy raised by the bureaucrats between the people and how their tax dollars are spent."

Washburn said he discovered the ban when he attempted to obtain pictures of the interior of the building for publication in the Star.

Washburn said his source told him that the Capitol architect's office said no pictures were available of the building's interior and said it was forbidden to photographers.

Washburn has been engaged in a running fight against what he terms unnecessary federal spending for several years. His most recent attack came several months ago when he editorialized against a new $500,000 federal building-post office approved for Hope.

He said that building was unnecessary and was not wanted by Hope residents. Petitions were circulated asking that approval of the building be withdrawn.

The General Services Administration said plans for the structure had progressed too far to stop and said the matter was closed.

In his Saturday column, Washburn said the fight against the Hope building was continuing "despite the fact that Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., and the GSA have said the issue is closed."

"Hope is not alone in federal profligacy, politics and tyranny. I have discovered an almost identical picture in Washington," Washburn wrote.

Wreck Injuries Prove Fatal

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James Moore, 19, of Little Rock died early today of injuries received Sunday night when a car in which he was riding went out of control and overturned five times on Interstate 30 south of Little Rock.

State Police said Moore and Henry Greenbaum, 17, were thrown from the car. Greenbaum suffered skull fracture and other injuries.

It was not determined who was driving. State Trooper Maurice Gately said witnesses told him the wreck occurred during a race. The other car was not found, he said.

Allen Shipp, 70, Dies Saturday

Allen Shipp, 70, a peace officer here for many years, died Saturday in a local hospital. He had lived in Hempstead most of his life. He was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Surviving are a son, George Shipp of Irvin, Texas, at daughter, Mrs. Paul Mitchell of Norman, Okla., a brother, Burdette of Tulsa and a sister, Mrs. J. A. Matthews of El Paso.

Services were held at 10:30 a.m. Monday at Herndon-Cornell Chapel by the Rev. Raymond Franks and the Rev. Gladwin Connell. Burial was in Union Cemetery.

American Girls, the Record Shows, Have Gone to Town in a Very, Very Big Way

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

American working girls are going to town in a big way. Around 1900, one out of five employed women earned her pay on a farm or ranch. Today only one out of 40 does.

But the women are getting more valuable—they now are buying 20 per cent of all new life insurance policies issued in this country.

It has been found that dogs reflect the personalities of their owners. Cats, on the other hand generally lead their lives according to their own sense of discipline.

Fire is man's most warming friend—and still one of his most expensive foes. Annual property losses from fire have exceeded a billion dollars a year for the last seven years.

In ancient Greece, Aristotle once counted the teeth of his housekeeper and those of a male servant. He found the woman had four fewer teeth, so for hundreds of years it was taken for granted that men had four more teeth than women.

Gary D. Jones Wins Safe Driving Award

Gary Don Jones received the Student Council's Safe Driving Award from Police Chief Alvin Willis Friday morning in an assembly before the high school student body.

The assembly was the climax of a week long campaign for safe driving by HHS students. It was a Student Council project. "Two other awards were made by Chief Willis. Mary Ann Bader received $5.00 for her winning slogan, "If you want to be a fatality, keep on driving carelessly."

Also, the Junior Class received a trophy for having the safest drivers on the whole. Gary Don also received a trophy. Johnny Anthony was master of ceremonies.

Chance Slim to Cut Rights Bill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Sunday that chances of serious watering down the administration's civil rights bill in the Senate were not good. ### Injuries Fatal to Negro Woman

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Fanny Hill, 45, Negro of Arkadelphia, was killed today when the car in which she was riding failed to make a curve and went into a ditch east of Hot Springs on State 270.

The driver, L. P. Green, 45, of Arkadelphia, and two other passengers, Jewel Martin, 45, of Arkadelphia and Charles Scott, 41 of Mountain Pine, were injured. All are Negroes.

Rain Brings Relief to Some of State

Badly needed rain soaked dry timber and grasslands in Arkansas Sunday night and Monday, temporarily easing the forest fire hazard.

But the rains were expected to end today with Northwest Arkansas receiving little moisture of consequence.

South Arkansas reported up to 1½ inches of rain and the total in Northeast Arkansas was expected to reach ¾ of an inch.

The forecast called for partly cloudy and mild tonight and Tuesday with low temperatures tonight in the mid 40s and highs Tuesday 60 to 65.

Rainfall totals included 1.16 inches at Pine Bluff, Camden one inch, Gurdon .94, Hot Springs .57, Arkadelphia .65, Perryville .82, Texarkana .75, El Dorado 1.68.

Temperatures rose to 75 degrees at Morrilton and Fort Smith Sunday, to 70 in Northwest Arkansas and to the 60s in most of the rest of the state.

More rain was expected the middle of the week and near the end of the week.

Firefighters battled flames over 3,000 acres in Arkansas Sunday.

Until the rains hit Sunday, portions of the state had received some five inches less than normal rainfall. Total rainfall was about half the normal level last year and the state suffered one of its worst forest fire losses.

State Forester Fred Lang said Forestry personnel battled 75 fires on 2,114 acres Saturday, and more than 50 fires on about 1,000 acres Sunday.

Worst hit Sunday was the Sheridan area, where 11 fires burned over 212 acres and destroyed two houses and an outbuilding.

Lang said forestry personnel chased two carloads of teenagers setting fires in the Mountain View area, where four fires burned 266 acres.

He also said a truck used to haul a fire plover to a fire near Malvern was burned even though the forest fire didn't reach the truck. It has been left unattended by firefighters, he said.

Other major fire areas Sunday included Heber Springs, Hardy, Fayetteville, Warren and Fordyce, Lang said.

Student Loan Program Set Up in State

Friends of the University of Arkansas have embarked upon a program to raise matching funds in order to supplement the National Defense Student Loan Program. This is a program designed to help worthy students attend college. The Federal Government will put up $9.00 for every $1.00 raised by the University.

A student may borrow up to $1,000.00 in one year and up to $5,000.00 for his entire college program. In order to be eligible for a loan, a person must be a full time student, has satisfactory scholarship in high school (a C plus average or better), show evidence of financial need in order to attend college and complete the proper application form.

Special consideration will be given to superior students who are preparing to teach, study physical or biological science, mathematics, engineering, or modern foreign languages. However, no students is disqualified because of his chosen field of study.

A student must start repayment of the loan one year after he leaves college and the loan must be paid in full within ten years. Three per cent simple interest will be charged.

The repaid money will remain with the University of Arkansas in a revolving fund and will be a continuous program that will enable students to borrow money for many years to come.

Plans will be made known later as to how the general public can contribute to this worthwhile program. In the meantime, it is well to remember this very worthwhile undertaking and that for every $50.00 raised $50.00 will be made available for college study for a worthy student.

Cites Attack on Jury System

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa's chief prosecutor argued today that he took part in "one of the greatest attacks on the jury system this country has ever known."

James Neal, chief prosecutor at the Teamsters president's jury-tampering trial, opened final arguments as the trial began its seventh week.

Hoffa and five others are accused of trying to bribe and corrupt the jury that heard Hoffa's 1962 trial in Nashville on a conspiracy charge. That jury never agreed on a verdict.

"It's unthinkable to punish the innocent," Neal told the jury. "But it is crucially to the innocent not to punish the guilty. Persons who seek to influence jurors are poisoning the very foundation of justice."

Each side has been allotted five hours of closing arguments.

Neal used an hour and 20 minutes for his argument.

Insurance Law in Arkansas Ruled Invalid

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that Arkansas' 1963 insurance-tax investment law is unconstitutional.

The ruling sustained Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed, who made a similar holding in a suit filed by two out-of-state insurance companies.

The law, Act 527, was declared invalid because it did not receive a three-fourths majority vote in the House of Representatives.

Attorneys for the State Insurance Department argued that the measure did not require a three-fourths majority because it did not actually raise a tax. Amendment 19 to the Arkansas Constitution requires a three-fourths vote in both houses to increase any tax being levied in 1934.

The insurance bill made a one half of one per cent increase in the premium tax of both insurance and fire and casualty companies, but provided that the firms did not have to pay the tax if they invested a specified percentage of their cash reserve in Arkansas businesses.

It was this provision that the legislature hoped would clear the bill under Amendment 19. The bill which became Act 527 was the most controversial matter in the 1963 Legislature. It passed the Senate easily, but ran into solid opposition in the House.

Speaker Marion Crank first ruled that it would need three fourths majority, 75 votes, to pass. It was brought to a vote and failed. Later Crank reversed himself, holding that the measure needed only 51 votes, a bare majority, and it passed.

The Supreme Court affirmed a second death sentence given Clarence Stewart Jr., a young Negro convicted in the slaying of a North Little Rock storekeeper.

Stewart's first conviction was overturned by a federal court on grounds that Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury which tried him.

The first conviction had been upheld by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Stewart was convicted in the

Heavy Damage in Two Accidents

City Police reported two weekend accident that resulted in very heavy damage and charges were filed in both.

Sunday at the Rocky Mound, Highway 67 junction autos driven by Mrs. J. H. Pickard and Garland Rosenbaum, Fulton, collided. City Officers Martin and Jarvis charged Mrs. Pickard with leaving the scene of an accident and reckless driving. The Rosenbaum vehicle was badly damaged.

Also on the weekend vehicles driven by Charles E. McDonald and Roosevelt Jamison Jr. collided on N. Hazel and both cars were heavily damaged. Charles Burton, a passenger in the McDonald car, was taken to a local hospital with minor injuries. Officers Ward, Milam and Deputy Sheriff Griffin charged McDonald with reckless driving.

Arts Center Director to Visit Hope

William H. Turner, Director of Development of the Arkansas Arts Center, and Alan R. Symonds, Executive Director of the Arts Center, will be in Hope Thursday, March 5 to meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the First National Bank with all those in Hope interested in forming a Chapter of the Arkansas Arts Center here.

They will explain the details of the Chapter plan which features the rotation of art object throughout various towns in the state and makes facilities of the Arts Center available to people in their own community. The Chapter system is an extension of the broad and stimulating program of exhibitions, films, art education, lectures, and theater productions offered in the Arts Center galleries, school, and theater.

Formation of these Chapters fulfills the Center's declared purpose to further the development, understanding, and appreciation of the visual and the performing arts among people of Arkansas. Any Chapter can secure desired assistance in the various fields of art from the Center simply by paying the travel and local expenses (food and lodging) of the person or persons required to conduct the workshop, demonstration, or lecture.

For more information about the advantages and opportunities afforded by such a plan come to the Community Room to meet with the Arts Center executives Thursday, March 5 at 7:30 p.m.

Wreckage Is Sighted, No Sign of Life

By BILL STALL

TAHOE VALLEY, CALIF. (AP)—Air searchers found the wreckage today of a four-engine plane where it crashed into a Sierra peak, east of Lake Tahoe, killing all 85 persons aboard.

A doctor, taken by helicopter to the remote scene at the 8,000 foot level of a snowy mountain, confirmed there were no survivors.

The Paradise Airlines Constellation vanished in a snowstorm Sunday while carrying 81 passengers to Nevada's casinos and ski resorts on a flight from San Jose, Calif.

Lt. Col. Alexander S. Sherry, deputy commander of the Western Air Rescue Center, Hamilton Air Force Base, told an airport news conference the wreckage was spotted just west of the hamlet of Genoa, Nev.

Just before the conference, a helicopter pilot told The Associated Press the wreckage was found 200 feet below the top of a rugged peak towering among those which rise up to 10,000 feet or more in the ski and gambling playground around Lake Tahoe.

The mountain where California's biggest air tragedy occurred is named Genoa Peak. The spotting helicopter was one of 17 which flew out today over the rugged wilderness scene near the site of the 1960 Squaw Valley winter Olympics.

Governor to Address Boy Scouts Here

Governor Orval Faubus will be the principal speaker at the Annual Appreciation Dinner for the Piney Woods District of the Caddo Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, to be held Tuesday night at the Barlow Hotel in Hope, Arkansas.

Governor Faubus will be introduced by State Senator Olen Hendrix of Prescott. Judge Royce Weisenberger will serve as Master of Ceremonies.

The dinner is to recognize the leadership of 250 Boy Scout Leaders that reside in Hempstead, Nevada, Lafayette and Howard Counties. Recognition of these Scouters will be done by Josh R. Morris, Jr., of Texarkana, President of the Caddo Area Council.

The Piney Woods District led all Boy Scout Districts in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico last year in the increase of the number of boys served in Scouting. This growth represented a 40% increase over 1962 and will probably rank number one in the United States when all the figures are accounted. It was announced by Melvin R. Cook, Scout Executive of the Caddo Area Council.

The Advancement Program of the Cub Scouts and Explorers doubled in this District during the past year and 66% of all Boy Scouts attended Camp Pioneer during 1963.

Present officers whose term will expire in June are Ellis Stewart, Prescott, District Chairman, George Byrd, Jr., Nashville, Vice Chairman, Clifford Franks of Hope serves as Vice President of the Caddo Area Council representing the Piney Woods District.

The Nominating Committee to select officers for 1964 is made up of Tom Harris, Stamps, Chairman, Judge Bobby Steele, Nashville, Judge Royce Weisenberger, Clifford Franks and Mitchell LaGrone of Hope, John Teeter, Prescott and J. C. Landers of Lewisville.

Insurance Law

Jan. 8, 1959 stabbing death of William N. Caldwell.

Attorneys for Stewart again raised the contention that there was discrimination in selection of the jury but the argument was rejected by the Supreme Court.

The court ordered a new trial in a Hot Springs case in which Billy Huffman was ordered to pay $142 for damages to a city automobile and $9,000 for personal injuries to Bobby Digby, a city patrolman, after Digby's car and Huffman's were involved in an accident March 12, 1962.

The Supreme Court said that Garland Circuit Court erred in denying Huffman the right to file a counterclaim for damages to his car and in refusing to let attorneys for Huffman cross-examine Digby about why he had left city employment.

Digby testified that he retired because of injuries suffered in the wreck.

In a Union County case, the Supreme Court held that a chancery judge has the right to issue an injunction prohibiting a person from committing a criminal offense.

The ruling came in a case in which George C. James was fined $1,000 and sentenced to 180 days in jail for striking his former wife in the face after he had been enjoined by the chancery court from molesting her.

He was convicted of assault and battery in criminal court and then brought before the chancery court, who assessed the heavy fine and jail sentence but suspended all but $200 of the fine.

James argued that the chancery had no right to enjoin him from committing assault and battery.

The Supreme Court said it could not sustain this view because, if it did, "a person desiring to proceed or continue in violation of the law might be able to pay a maximum fine and thus make himself immune from a valid chancery court injunction."

A new trial was ordered in a Jackson County case in which the Arkansas Highway Commission was ordered to pay $6,000 for .08 acre of land taken for right of way from the Jackson County Gin Co.

The Supreme Court said the trial court erred in permitting owners of the gin company to testify about sale of the gin property in which the sale price allegedly was reduced $10,000 as a result of the Highway Department's condemnation suit.

Taking of the land forced the company to move its scales, an expensive operation.

Airlines Constellation which disappeared Sunday in a blinding snowstorm with 81 passengers and four crew members aboard.

It was the third major commercial air crash in five days. The plane, loaded to capacity, vanished about noon Sunday. Veteran pilot Henry Norris, 43, had just radioed that he was starting his 27-mile approach down 23-mile long Lake Tahoe to the airport in Tahoe Valley.

It was the first mishap in the two-year-old Paradise Airlines' operation.

The four-engine, propeller-driven Constellation may have plunged into the huge lake.

Norris possibly turned and crashed into the mountains. The scene is only a few miles from Squaw Valley, scene of the 1960 Winter Olympics.

In Washington, the Civil Aeronautics Board said it was sending three investigators, headed by George R. Baber, to the scene.

The 81 passengers were flying toward a gay Sunday at Nevada's gambling casinos, theaters, bars and restaurants—only two miles from the airport at the south end of Lake Tahoe.

Fifteen other pleasure seekers—who had purchased $15.75 tickets for the 15-mile flight from San Jose—were unable to get seats. They were taken 50 miles to Oakland to board another plane—but were turned

Frank Sr. to Be Called in Kidnap Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defense attorneys say they hope to recall singer Frank Sinatra Sr. today to testify in the trial of three men accused of kidnaping his 20-year-old son.

Observers said Sunday that by attempting to recall the elder Sinatra to the stand, the defense would be testing an assertion by the prosecution that the veteran entertainer is available as a witness.

News reports say Sinatra is in Japan and plans to remain there until he completes negotiations for a film.

Defense attorneys said that if Sinatra is not available they will call defendant Joseph Clyde Amster, 23, and ask him of his reported attempts to block the alleged kidnaping. The other two defendants are Barry Keeney, also 23, and John Irwin, 42.

Reward Offered in Dynamitings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Association of American Railroads today offered a $100,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of dynamiters who wrecked a Florida East Coast Railway train Feb. 26.

The offer was disclosed in telegrams the association sent to President Johnson and Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida.

Daniel P. Loomis, association president, said the organization's board of directors authorized the reward.

The telegrams praised Johnson for ordering the FBI to investigate the dynamite attacks on the strikebound Florida East Coast line. The Feb. 26 explosion was the fifth in less than three weeks.

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force said today wreckage of a plane which disappeared Sunday with 85 persons aboard had been found on a mountainside near Lake Tahoe.

Lt. Jim Barrier of the base's information service said a helicopter pilot reported no sign of survivors around the wreckage at the 8,900-foot level.

Lt. Barrier said the helicopter landed and the pilot identified the plane as the Paradise Airlines Constellation which crashed Sunday on a flight from San Jose, Calif., to Lake Tahoe.

8 Accidental Deaths in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A 26-year-old Leachville man, Jerry Cook, drowned Sunday when he was flipped from a boat on Big Lake, about nine miles north of Manila.

The accident brought to eight the number of violent deaths in the state for the week ended at midnight Sunday.

Bobby Jack Miller, 23, of Coal Hill was killed Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding went out of control and hit a bridge on U.S. 64 about six miles west of Clarksville. A West Memphis nightwatchman, Carl Young, 51, died early Sunday from a bullet wound in his head.

Deputy Sheriff Lee Baker said Cook was piloting a 15-foot boat around a bend in Big Lake when it overturned. Cook had been fishing with two other men, but they were on the bank when the mishap occurred.

Miller was riding with F. D. Parker, 26, of Richmond, Calif., when Parker lost control of the

Innocent Plea to Kidnap of Young Pair

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Harold Burton Dupree, 23, of Ripon, Calif., pleaded innocent in circuit court today to a charge of kidnaping a young couple last Jan. 26.

The couple, Carol Evans, 17, and Danny Theriac, 20, of Clarendon, said they gave Dupree a ride and he pulled a knife and told them to take him to Texarkana.

They made a wrong turn and stopped for gasoline west of Hot Springs. Theriac jumped out of the car and the girl was cut on the hand.

Dupree ran and was arrested the next day after a manhunt.

The Navy placed a hold order on Dupree. He told officers he was absent without leave from the Virginia Beach, Va., Naval Station.

Dupree was held in the county jail.

car on a curve. State police said Miller was thrown from the car. Parker was given medical treatment and released.

Young was found early Saturday about 2 miles from the West Memphis firm where he was employed. Authorities said he had been beaten and shot in the head with a .38 caliber pistol. A young Negro was arrested in connection with the death.

Four persons died in traffic accidents during the week, one was killed in a train-truck collision, one was burned, one shot and one drowned.

Compromise Hopeless for Registration

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus has abandoned hopes of working out a compromise on voter registration before calling a special legislative session.

But, Faubus said in a news conference today, he is still working behind the scenes in an effort to insure that any controversy will not lead to a lengthy, wrangling session.

The area of dispute is which county official—assessor, sheriff, collector or clerk—should handle registration when the continuing system becomes effective in 1965.

The Legislative Council couldn't settle the matter in a hearing which lasted two weeks and decided to submit three bills, one naming each of the officials, to the special session.

At that time, Faubus tentatively set the session for Feb. 26, but he postponed it because of the threatening controversy and he has not reset it. He would not even suggest a tentative date today.

Faubus said he hoped that all three bills could be introduced and brought to a vote in the legislature without a great deal of squabble.

"Then whichever carries, I mean whichever official is named, let's everybody vote for the emergency clause on the bill because if we don't get an emergency clause we won't have anything," Faubus said.

An emergency clause would put the bill into effect immediately. Without an emergency clause it would not go into effect for some time and would be suspended if anyone circulates referendum petitions to force an election on it.

Faubus said he would suggest that the starting date for permanent registration in the bill be changed from Jan. 1 to Feb. 15, 1965.

He said this would give the 1965 legislature about a month to make any necessary changes in the bill before the start of registration.

Copies of the proposed bill have been sent to the state's four U.S. representatives for study and Faubus said he still is waiting to hear their opinions of the measure before calling the session.

Pavy, 21, of Irving, Tex., and James E. Arivette, 22, of Bismarck, Ark., were charged with holding up a Hot Springs liquor store last week and taking the clerk prisoner.

The clerk, Roman Pung, 52, was forced at knifepoint to drive the men in his car toward Malvern. Then he was taken out of the car and tied. He was not hurt. Pavy and Arivette were arrested a short time later in Malvern.

The $555 taken from the liquor store was recovered.

Friday Music Club Meets

As a fitting climax to American Music Month, "The Parade of American Music" was the subject of the program presented by Mrs. Sam Strong at the Friday Music Club on Friday, February 28 in the Talbot Field, Jr. home. Pansies were seen in the home as well as philodendron.

A program performed by young musicians in Hope included: vocal solos — Scott Moore, accompanied by Mrs. J. V. Moore, Jr., and Sammy Strong, accompanied by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt; piano solos — Rachael Batson, Ruth Alice Edwards, Becky Moore, Tommy Frazier, and Johnny Gardner. The variety of musical talents demonstrated included: Lance Jones — baritone horn solo, accompanied by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt; Phil McLarty — trombone solo, accompanied by Rose Ann Williams; Susan and Ellen Turner — piano duet; Ruth Ann Wylie — trumpet solo, accompanied by Rose Ann Williams. Mrs. Strong concluded the program with a few appropriate remarks about American music.

Club president Mrs. Arch Wylie conducted the business meeting at which Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr. reported on plans for the April concert in Hope by Mrs. Robert Sard of Urbana, Ill., and Mrs. B. C. Hyatt appointed members to help with the Festival of Arts, and Mrs. Talbot Field, Jr. urged forming an Art Chapter in Hope. Mrs. Wylie appointed as a nominating committee to select officers for next year, Mrs. V. R. Herndon, Jr., Mrs. Douglas Drake, and Mrs. J. C. Carlton.

The Hymn of the Month, "The Is My Father's World," was sung in unison to conclude the meeting. Mrs. Feild and her co-hostess, Mrs. Roy Stephenson, served peach parfait, cake squares, nuts, and coffee as the guests arrived. Those present included three new members, Mrs. Bob Moers, Mrs. Calvin Smith, and Mrs. Bess Evans. Club guests were Mrs. Charles Menz of Battle Creek, Mich., Mrs. John B. Gardner, Jr., and Mrs. George Frazier.

Bridge - Luncheon

On Thursday, February 27 the Ladies Bridge - Luncheon, which is held monthly at the Hope Country Club, took place in the clubhouse with 48 enjoying a delicious luncheon served buffet style from a table enhanced by a yellow cloth, centerpiece, and candles.

In the afternoon bridge was played at 10 tables. The guest prize went to Mrs. C. P. Tolleson. Mrs. George Newbern, Jr. was high and Mrs. Duffie D. Booth was second high. An out-of-town guest, Mrs. Mitchell Williams of Tahoka, Tex., won the game prize.

Hostesses for the entertainment were Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr., Mrs. Duffie D. Booth, Mrs. George Newbern, Jr., and Mrs. E. E. Wassell.

Policeman Charged With Burglary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Little Rock policeman has been charged with burglary and grand larceny in connection with the robbery of a Little Rock clothing store.
Police Chief R. E. Briens said Patrolman Ronald C. Smith, 25, of North Little Rock, is charged in the $3,000 burglary of the Mr. Wicks clothing store Feb. 15.
Darrell F. Jones, 28, was charged with receiving stolen property. Jones is an employee of a grocery store group.

Fuel Cell Is Developed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. says it has developed a fuel cell which it said also is one of the fastest and most sensitive oxygen detectors known.
The cell, a small and thin ceramic tube composed of zirconium-calcium oxide, can monitor the efficiency of lungs and should be valuable in the diagnosis of a disease such as emphysema, the company said.
Westinghouse said the cell can detect as little as one part per million of oxygen.
The announcement was made at the Pittsburgh conference on analytical chemistry and applied spectroscopy.

HERE'S HOW TO IMPRESS YOUR NEW NEIGHBORS

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

One thing you may meet up with in any new community is snobs. Thought they flourish everywhere, you rub elbows with them most in the suburban development. You may meet up with the situation this wife describes:
Dear Dr. Brothers: We've just moved into a development area. The country is wonderful for the children. It's the adults who disturb me. I find I'm looked over by my neighbors, and so are all our possessions, and even my husband's old car. I feel my neighbors are wondering whether to accept us socially. Please tell us newcomers to a development how to deal with this unexpected snobbery. —S. J.

Dear S. J.: When a family moves into a new development, they find their smallest possession under scrutiny. Women look over each other's kitchens, and their choice in decor and furniture.

And suburban males aren't one bit better. They size up the probable status of the newcomer head-of-the-house, and the degree in which he maintains his grounds. And a fourth factor he'll be asked about: What business is he in?

I know of one man whose real job was the testing of mattress springs to see if they'd be comfortable enough. This is a perfectly respectable profession. But he found newly-introduced friends smirked when he mentioned it. So he changed his description: He was a metalurgical engineer, testing ferric metals.

This said about the same thing, but the looks of respect he got doubled. People were too embarrassed to admit they didn't know what ferric meant, and he later heard himself re-who just moved in down the street. Now he had status. Many people are inherently insecure, and the more snobbish the person, the more insecure he or she is. So, these development neighbors who size up your furniture and decor, and your husband's old car, are basically insecure. Otherwise, they wouldn't put so much stock in those things.

Their insecurity makes them blind to the fact that it is po-ment on important proposals at the Geneva disarmament conference.

The interview was published in the government newspaper Izvestia. It heavily criticized the whole Western position at the conference.

"No sharp words would be excessive to characterize the proceedings of the 18-nation disarmament committee," he told the Izvestia interviewer.

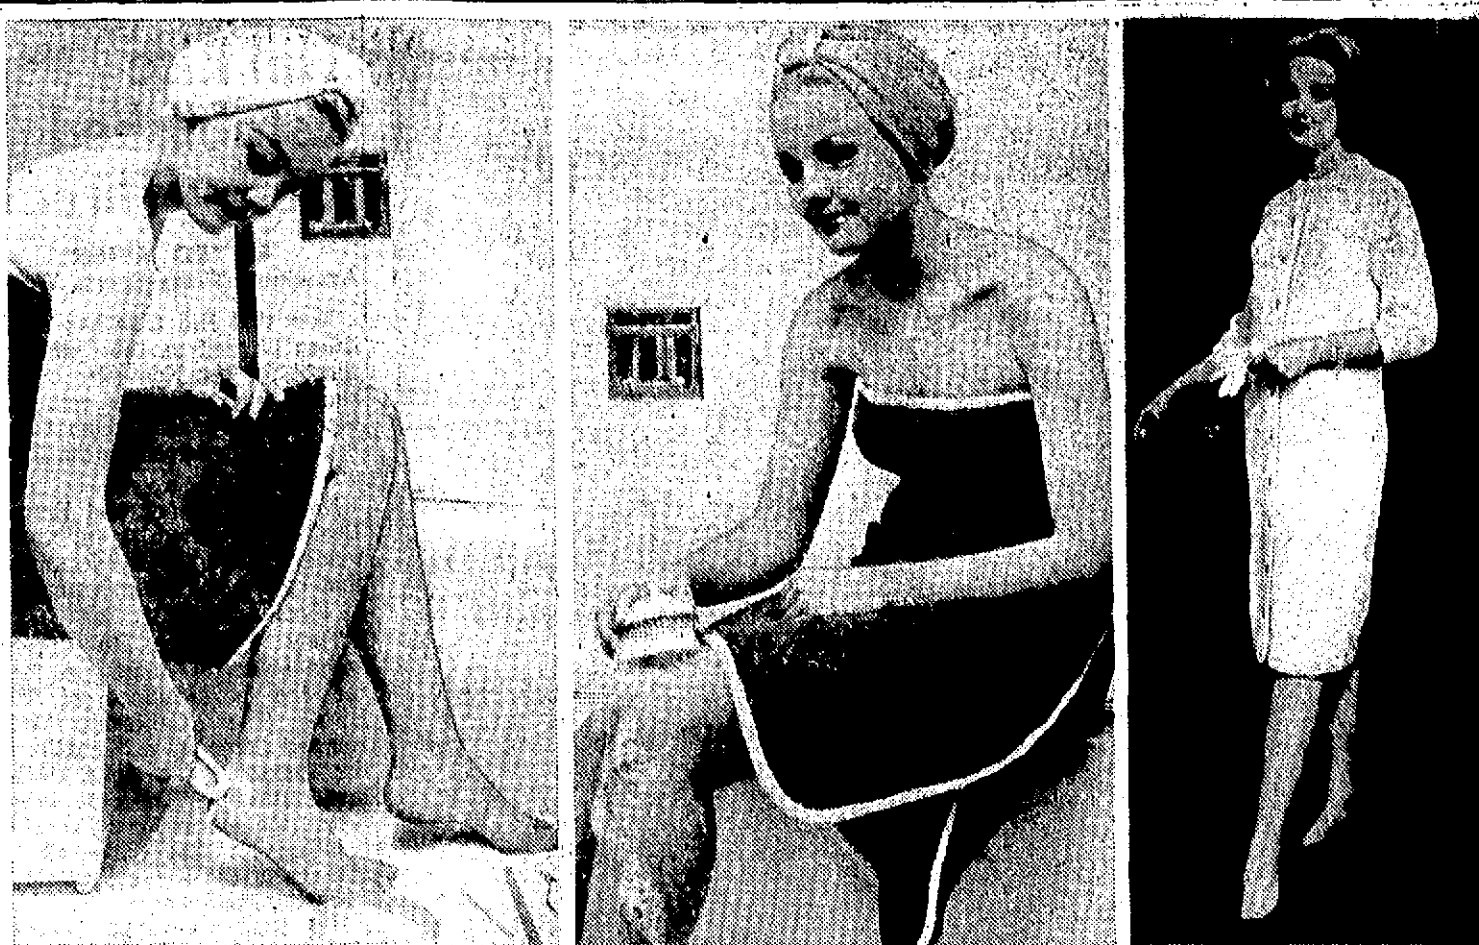

He blamed the west for lack of agreement on any items brought before the conference during its weeks of conference.

Smoky Says:

UNBELIEVABLE... BUT TRUE!

LAST YEAR 100,000 MAN-CAUSED FIRES COST TAXPAYERS $100,000,000

Plus many millions more in lost resources!

The secret to looking well-groomed is being well-groomed. Sound redundant? Not really. The young woman at right takes special pains to see that her hair and skin are as neat as her trim wool knit. Each day she smooths her heels, soles and toes with a well-lathered pumice stone (left) to ward off calluses and pump bumps. Her legs get a scrubbing with a firm-bristle brush (center) and she concentrates on her knees to smooth off rough skin. Before donning clean stockings, she smooths on a moisturizing lotion to further discourage dry, scaly skin.

ple who count, not their possessions.
When people move into a new area, for instance, a suburban development, they see themselves as establishing a social beachhead, as Vance Packard describes it in his book, "The Status-Seekers." Some promoters of development property consult psychologists as to how to make their project appear socially tops.

One approached a University of Pennsylvania professor in the science of psychology for a study of motivations. The result of status appeal such socially desirable names as Hillcrest Drive, implying lot owners look down on everyone else, and even Vanderbilt Plaza, which the social arbiters of that name never owned, or even heard of. But Hillcrest and Vanderbilt create just the right impression.

Right away, new property buyers rush to get stationery printed to display their new identification, and their city friends get unexpected letters, saying nothing special, but above all, displaying the elite address.

How do you deal with new neighbors who come over ostensibly to make friends, but secretly to size you up? Just be yourself, and completely at ease. Be charming, but don't fall all over yourself. If you're too ingratiating, the insecure visitor may feel you don't belong, and are trying hard to do so.

So, the secret is this: Just be yourself, and especially charming, but self - possessed. We should feel that our home is a private and individual haven, suiting our desires, and not designed or decorated for its impression on others. In other words, we should turn inward, not outward for inspiration in the creation of our homestead.

A Note On Petting

I am often asked by mothers what convincing facts they should give their daughters about petting. Simply saying "not" is not too often effective, they say.

Let me quote Dr. Anne Clark, formerly senior psychiatrist at New York's Bellevue Hospital. The real danger in petting, she says, is that it may lead to frigidity in marriage. A girl who pets establishes the habit of "putting on the emotional brakes." This habit of "freezing up" become automatic, and after marriage a young lady will find it difficult to undo the habit.

Dr. Clark says from her experience that girls who heavily pet because they're afraid they won't be popular otherwise, are the ones who have emotional breakdowns, and experience later trouble in marriage.

So tell your daughter this, and remind her that some day she'll meet a very special young man, and want to marry him. And if she indulges in heavy petting now, she will be a lot "less"

Wife of New York Mayor Has Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner's wife, Susan, is critically ill with lung cancer, her doctors reported today.
She has been ailing for about 10 months and her condition became critical over the weekend, an aide to the mayor said. She is 54.
A medical bulletin issued by Dr. William S. Norton said:

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Susan Wagner, wife of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, died today.

"Mrs. Wagner is critically ill with advance bronchogenic carcinoma. The diagnosis was made from a chest x-ray and cervical lymph node biopsy in May 1963. In spite of full doses of cobalt radiation chemotherapy and every other medical course, it has not been possible to keep the cancer under control. She is in bed at Gracie Mansion, the mayor's official residence.

The Wagners have two sons, Robert Jr., a junior at Harvard, and Duncan, a student at a prep school. Both are at home now.

The Democratic mayor has curtailed his public schedule greatly in the past month to be close to his wife of 22 years.

Hospital Case Refused by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review a decision that two private hospitals in Greensboro, N.C., that accepted federal funds for construction must desegregate their staffs and facilities.

The U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond, by 3-2 vote, upheld contentions by Negro doctors, dentists and patients that policies of the hospitals violated the U.S. Constitution's prohibitions against racial discrimination.

The Circuit Court also declared unconstitutional a section of the Hill-Burton Act for federal financial aid for hospital construction, which permitted separate but equal facilities for different races.

The Moses H. Cone and Wesley Long hospitals in Greensboro, losers in the Circuit Court, appealed to the highest tribunal to reverse the decisions. The appeal said the Hill-Burton Act expressly disclaimed any federal right to exercise any supervision or control over operation of any hospital that received funds under the act.

The Latest Sensation Plays It Cool

B BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James Franciscus, who seems destined to be the new sensation of the teen-agers, is playing it cool, and with good reason. He has seen what happens to teen-age sensations.

Matter of fact, it happened to him when he was starring in the first season of "Naked City." He chanced to go skating one day in Central Park in New York.

"Some girls recognized me and crowded around for my autograph," he recalled. "It was going all right until the manager told the girls to get off the rink. Then they were worried that they wouldn't get their turn, and they started grabbing at my collar, my tie, etc."

"When the mob scene was over, I was left standing with only my pants and my skates on."

The same clamorous life faces Franciscus as star of "Mr. Novak," a television series with built-in teen-age appeal. He plays a compassionate teacher of English in a high school.

The teen crowd seems to like the series, and Franciscus, too. He gets the message when he goes on locations at local high schools. That's as far as he wants to push his luck.

"I lead a very quiet life," said Franciscus, who seeks no more mob scenes.

Franciscus admitted that his wife didn't care much for his long working hours, but she understands the business. The Franciscuses have two young daughters.

After the series had been sold out but before shooting began, Franciscus drew the lead in the movie, "Youngblood Hawke."

I asked if he had any regrets about taking his second leap in to a series.

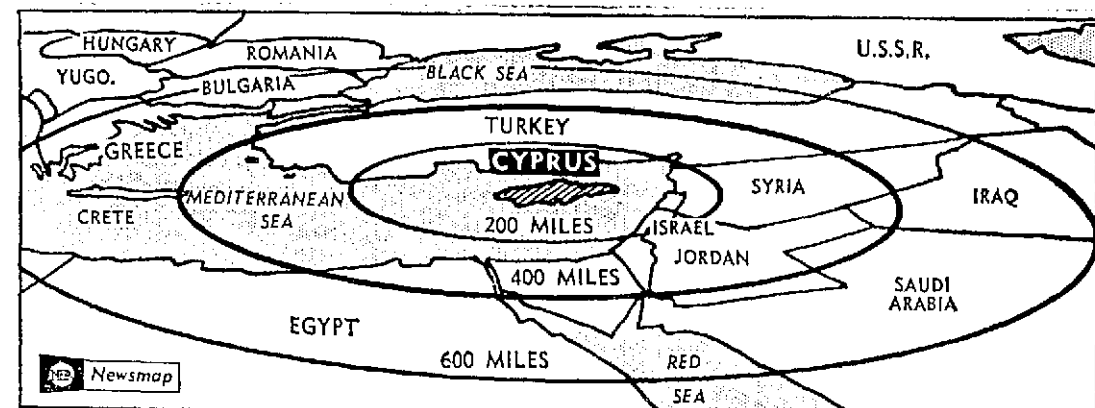

"None," he replied. "There still wouldn't be enough work for me in features. Perhaps there will be in two or three years—if 'Mr. Novak' goes that long. I think the chances are pretty good."

Little Rock Central won the high school division and with Little Rock Hall was second place. Memphis Christian Brothers was third. Central runners broke records in all three relay races.

Wall Had Right Idea on Bogota

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Art Wall had the right idea when he predicted that the pro with the hottest putter would win the Bogota International Open Golf Tourney.

The 40-year-old former Masters and PGA king backed up his forecast Sunday with a sharp performance on the greens of a wind blown course and took top money in the $13,000 event.

"I had awful good putts at the end," the Pocono Manor, Pa., vet said after posting a one-under-par 71 that gave him a two-stroke edge on fast-closing Al Besselink. Wall finished with a 72-hole total of 290. Besselink's final round 70 gave him a 282.

The victory was Wall's second in three tourneys on the Caribbean tour, which winds up with the Puerto Rico Open this week. He won the Maracaibo Open, first on the tour.

Hill Rise Established Derby Threat

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Hill Rise has established himself as the California threat for the Kentucky Derby, racing interest shifts today to the Flamingo at Hialeah which is expected to produce the Eastern threat.

Northern Dancer and Roman Brother are rated the main contenders in the $143,200 Flamingo that closes the Hialeah meeting in Florida Tuesday.

They will have to display some powerful running to better the performance of Hill Rise. The California colt romped home by six lengths in the $132,400 Santa Anita Derby last Saturday in the first major test of the season for 3-year-olds pointing for the triple crown classics of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont.

Hill Rise, the $4.80 favorite ridden by Don Pierce, set a record for the 1¼-mile stake of 1:47 2-5 in chalking up his sixth straight victory. Nightly Manner was second with Wil Rad third and Real Good Deal fourth.

George Pope, Jr. of San Francisco, who collected $87,400 for the win, wasted no time announcing that Hill Rise's next

Greek King Has a Blood Clot

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Palace doctors announced today that ailing King Paul of Greece has suffered a blood clot in his left lung. They started giving him anticoagulant treatment.

The 62-year-old monarch had been recovering from an operation two weeks ago for a stomach ulcer, but he developed another blood clot Sunday in his right leg.

The palace doctors said that despite the clots, the king's general condition was "presently not a cause for concern."

start would be in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, then the famed Derby at Churchill Downs in Louisville May 2. Pope won the 1962 Kentucky Derby with Decidedly.

Northern Dancer and Roman Brother are expected to dominate a large Flamingo field including Ishkoodah, noted for his fast finishes, Mr. Brick, Quadrangle, Bupers, Dandy K., Big Brigade, Alphabet and possibly Ky. Pioneer. All will carry 122 pounds in the 1¼-mile test which compares to the 118 Hill Rise toled.

Five Firms Destroyed at Corning

CORNING, Ark. (AP)—Fire destroyed five business firms and damaged several others in Corning Sunday morning. The damage was estimated at about a half-million dollars.

There were no injuries.

Firemen from Corning, Paragould, Walnut Ridge and Piggott fought the blaze about four and one half hours before bringing it under control.

The only structure left standing in the row of buildings hit by the fire was the Corning Fire Station and it was slightly damaged. The station is next to Brook-Sheeks Lumber Co., where the fire was first spotted in a shed.

Destroyed with the lumber firm were the Western Auto Store, the Midwest Auto Parts store, Poyner Insurance Co. and Dearing Electric Co.

H&H Auto Parts Store, the IGA Food Store and Russell-Ermedt Funeral Home were slightly damaged.

About eight businesses across the street from the fire lost windows and had some damage to doors from the heat.

Mayor E. W. Cochran said an insurance adjuster told him the damage would easily be $450,000.

Sniper Kills Polar Bear in Zoo

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Fuzzy, a lumbering polar bear befriended by thousands of children at the Point Defiance Zoo, is dead, felled by a sniper's bullets.

A patrolman heard some shots Friday night. Saturday morning, a zoo keeper found Fuzzy in his grotto and blood in his pool.

A veterinarian gave Fuzzy medicine to stop the external bleeding, but the 600-pound bear was too weak for surgery.

He died about 10 hours after he was found.

Cecil Brosseau, zoo manager, said Fuzzy had one bullet in his brain and another over his lungs.

"I can't understand the kind of a guy who would do a thing like this," Brosseau said. "It's a sadistic thing."

COMET—100,000 miles at Daytona...5 more awards...an 84% sales gain

The awards honor Comet's styling, its design, its engineering. One cites the amazing display of stamina at Daytona, where a team of specially equipped Comets each ran 100,000 miles, averaged over 105 mph. This Durability Run marked the spectacular debut of a new kind of Comet—the 1964. Bigger. Heftier. Elegant. Hot. No wonder sales have been up 84% over the same period last year. Try this three-way winner...now at your Mercury dealers.

"I want Medders brought in. I've got some rights," Belita said grimly.

By NELSON C. NYE

She was a sorry looking sight, no two ways about it. Teetered back in his swivel, Sheriff Andy McFarron continued with increasing irritation to stare. The yarn she'd come up with seemed about as unlikely as playing a harp with a hammer and, while he did not personally care for any part of it, certain aspects of it were going to have to be looked into. Banker Jones, anyway, could be relied on to think so.

The girl licked her cracked lips. "It was always night," she said, "deliberate. She couldn't have looked much worse if she'd been hauled throughout a knothole. Yet back of her bangles, the torn and stained tawdry rags of an itinerant gypsy, she was shapely, emotional, crammed with passion. But her eyes were too watchful.

There had to be more to this deal than she'd told. The seething resentment boiling out of each gesture had to have more basis than was so far apparent. Not that her yarn wasn't loco enough! Cougar wild it was—you might's well say downright preposterous, and yet . . .

McFarron, grimacing, pushed a hand through damp hair.

This wasn't like Charlie; but deep inside he could see the fool doing it. They had known each other clean back to the days they had both punched cows for John Slaughter. Even then Charlie Medders had been a character. Nothing had been too reckless for him, and nothing McFarron had heard about him since held out any hope his temper had changed much.

Man had ought to stretch a few points for old times' sake and, had it been anyone else, McFarron probably would have but—politics being what they were around here—he was caught in a bind. Tiberius K. Jones, local arbiter of destiny, was after but the spavined monster never backed off a step. He didn't even blink.

When he hit the end of the lead shank he stopped as though he'd come against a stone wall. The mule, stubbornly set in its tracks, wouldn't budge. Nothing the sheriff tried would move him.

The girl said thoughtfully, "He's probably tired," and McFarron glared, fuming. He said, "You want somethin' done about this business, or don't you?"

She considered him daskly. "I want Medders brought in. I've got some rights," she said grimly.

The sheriff let go of the rope. "So has Medders. Story like that, it's got to be checked. Only concrete fact in sight is this mule. You claim it's Charlie's."

"I see. Yes, of course." If that bothered her any it was not apparent.

"I want him over to Fritchett's livery. If he belongs to Medders somebody will know about it."

She didn't point out all the holes in that notion, just scooped up the rope with a slantways look, said "Come, Eduardo," and stepped into the sun scorched dust of the street, the mule lumbering along like a dog at her heels. McFarron, plodding after them mouthed a bitter curse.

But, breasting the bank, he pulled the chin off his chest. He had his own career to consider and Jones, if there was anything to this yarn, might decide to postpone Charlie's trip to the pen. The sheriff cleared his throat. "We'll step in here."

The girl looked around, eyed the bank and shrugged. She hauled Eduardo over to the curb, dropped his rope across the rail and stood coolly waiting on McFarron's pleasure.

He jerked his chin at the doors. "Straight ahead."

A hard faced man in blue serge and brass buttons after scraping them with a raspy glance passed them on into a lobby designed expressly to impress the unwashed hordes that placed their trust in Tiberius Jones.

The girl took in the floor's deep pile, expensive hangings and wrought iron fixtures. If she was cut down to size she kept it hidden, stood disdainfully waiting for McFarron to make his play.

Beyond the cages and directly in front of the gate to the inner sanctum a blonde sat behind a desk drawn up by the rail. "Good morning, Sheriff," she exclaimed with a smile. "And what can we do for you?"

Imogene Winters, McFarron thought sourly, was as much a part of the bank's facade as the overwhelming rest of the fixtures and furnishings so painstakingly selected to put all comers in a proper frame of mind. She had the charm of Lillian Russell, the face of a Gibson girl and a figure that would turn a man's tongue dry as chalk. She was as efficient as she was breathtaking, and her job was to smile and refuse.

McFarron had been over the route before. "Is the Commissioner in?"

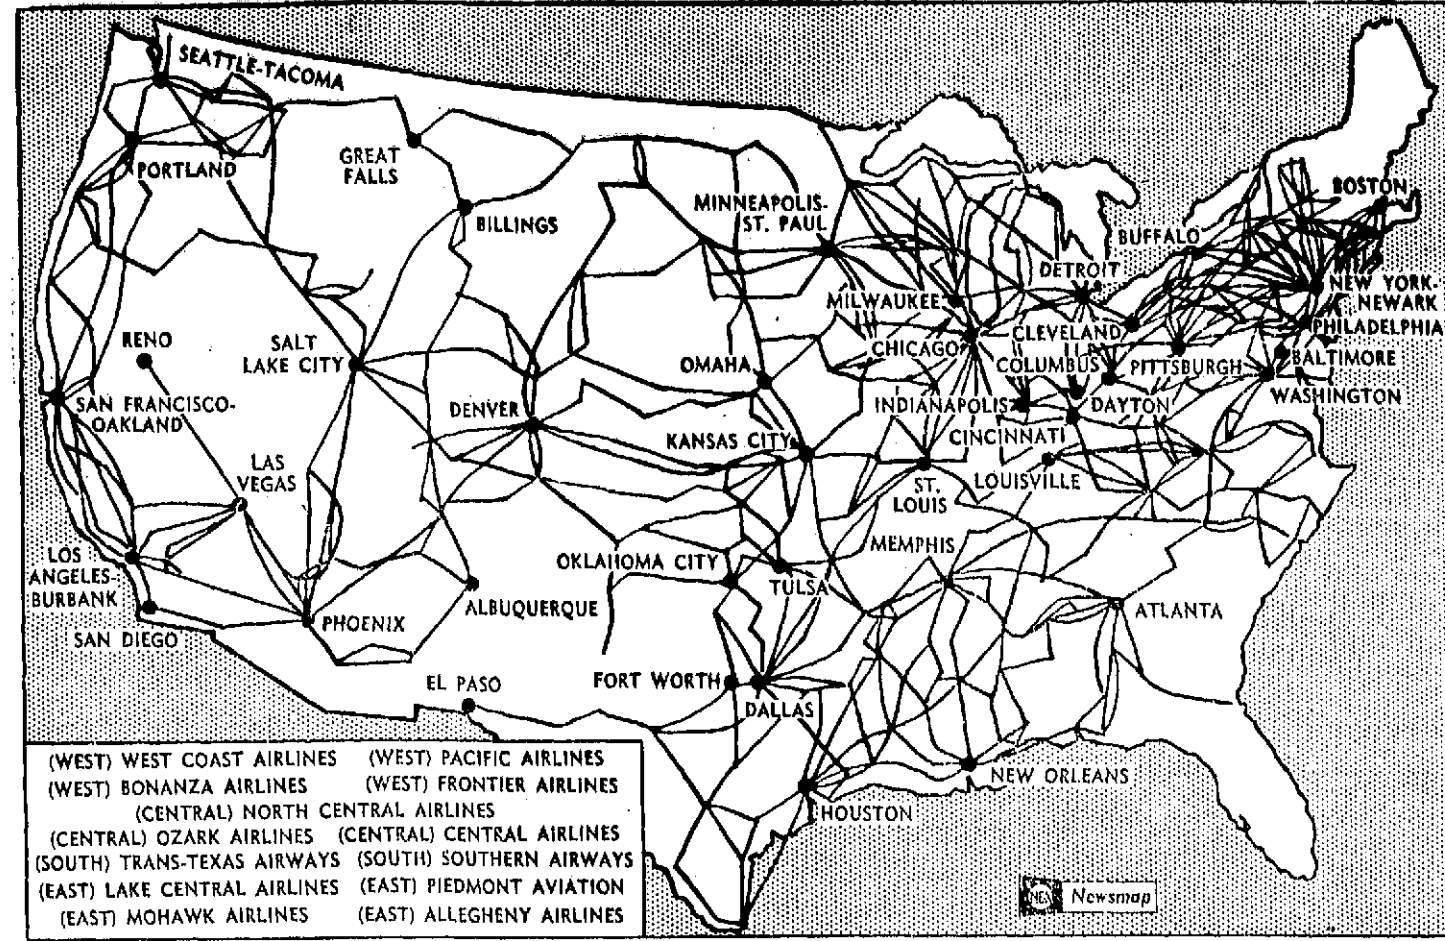

She continued to smile while her gentian eyes, grown increasingly doubtful, assessed the girl with a bright distrust. "He's terribly busy."

"You tell him it's about Charlie Medders," the sheriff said, and it was like he'd rubbed Aladdin's lamp. Taking up her pencil the magnificent creature hastily scribbled several words, tore the slip from her pad and passed it to a boy who took it through the rail. In 20 seconds, head bobbing, he was back and Miss Winters graciously waved them toward the magic portal.

The great man was alone behind an imposing desk whose polished surface was unblemished by even so little as a solitary paper. He did not rise or waste any time on unprofitable amenities. "What about Medders?"

"Might be we've got just about what you want," McFarron announced, indicating the girl. "Belita Storn. Figured you'd want to be the first to hear her story."

"I've no time for stories." "That's plain enough," McFarron said.

No aerial photograph will show this important network of roads which spreads out neatly over the face of the United States. Many, many air journeys start and end here. On any main line commercial flight one might take, the destination city for a number of passengers will involve a transfer at one of the terminals. They will change planes and, in a matter of minutes, be flying to their final destinations in smaller cities. The nation's 13 local service airlines perform this task. Each serves a well-defined region varying from three to 12 states. The newsmag above lists each of the various airlines and gives its region. It shows only these branch lines, not the main line routes of the larger companies. In addition to those shown, two Hawaiian local service airlines—Hawaiian and Aloha—provide valuable connections between Honolulu and the islands. The locals, as these airlines are called, provide air travel within a reasonable auto drive almost everywhere in the United States.

How Things Look Depend on Your Stand

EDITOR'S NOTE — Ways of seeing economic growth are being readied in case the 1960s turn bumpy. In this, the last of five articles on the decade, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, tells how high the stakes are.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Many are saying that one way or another the 1960s will have to be made to soar. They reason that industry, labor, government, all realize that the stakes are now too high, the perils of a snowballing downturn from current heights too great, to let the economy falter.

How things look today depends on where you sit. For many, the times are good and likely to get better. For a few, the 1960s are a growing disappointment—dimming chances of finding work, a widening gap between the affluent and the poor. For most, perhaps, the 60s are still a tossup.

A steel executive can say, "Steel has turned the corner and the outlook is on the brighter side." Another can predict the cost of making steel will drop $30 to $40 a ton by 1970 from today's average of $152, which might give foreign firms competition.

An electric utilities spokesman thinks "a period of striking growth could be at hand." He sees last year's outlay of $3 billion for expansion becoming $6 billion a year by 1970.

Makers of consumer goods count on an increasing population for larger markets. Merchants expect retail sales to go on climbing, but they fear competition will be rougher—maybe many small stores forced out to shopping centers.

Many in the financial markets are betting that the present upswing, now three years old, can be extended to a record five years. They look to the tax cut to give the needed nudge this year, and to pyramiding effects from that to keep things going through 1965.

And then what?

Some anticipate big new spending programs at various government levels—for area redevelopment as part of a fight on poverty, for mass transit, for urban renewal. Corporate executives believe government is ready now to tailor taxing and spending more to the encouragement of private investment.

An easier monetary policy, joined with increased household formations, is predicted to widen the demand for new construction and more appliances and services.

But there's the rub. There will be ever more people to compete for each job and every dollar.

There will be 13 million more candidates for jobs at the end of the decade than at the start. If jobs don't increase faster than they are increasing now, the unemployment rate will rise from 5.5 per cent to 7 per cent of the labor force. That's why many think that despite today's opposition to cutting the work week to 35 hours some shortening will be forced before the decade ends.

Stock prices have been pushed to present heights partly out of confidence in coming economic growth. A setback could crack this confidence — both of stock traders and of the public in general. That's another reason so much effort is being spent to devise ways to keep the '60s climbing.

Majority opinion right now seems to be that the 1960s will end well ahead of their starting point on most counts. The question is: Far enough ahead? And can the goal be reached without any marked or crippling slowdown along the way? Almost no one believes that

Struck by Car, Man Succumbs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — James Walters, 63, of Little Rock, died early today in a Little Rock hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car here Sunday night.

Police said Roy L. Williams, 22, of Little Rock, drove the car that hit Walters.

The 1960s will end as the 1920s did—in a crash. The cautious think the climb will be sedate, problem-strewn but disaster-free. Many are convinced that before the '60s and they will really be soaring by today's standards.

Winthrop to Check in Home County

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller's home county will be polled to check his political popularity, the Rockefeller for Governor Movement has revealed.

Warren Liebling of Pine Bluff, chairman of the movement, said Saturday the poll was requested by the Conway County Republican Committee. Rockefeller, a Petit Jean Mountain rancher, businessman and National Republican committeeman for Arkansas, has said he is seriously thinking about making the gubernatorial race.

Liebling said the poll would challenge what has previously been strong territory for Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Faubus has hinted, but not said, that he may seek a sixth consecutive term. He carried Conway County with 59.2 per cent of the votes cast in the 1962 primary.

Young Republican Clubs at Henderson and Ouachita colleges recently polled Clark County and said they found that 51 per cent of those polled would vote for Rockefeller for governor.

NATO Reviews ROTC Cadets

MEMPHIS (AP) — Visiting dignitaries from ten North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries viewed the nation's largest Air Force ROTC Cadet Corps today at Memphis State University.

The two dozen field-grade officers are visiting Memphis as the first stop on a nationwide tour of military reserve installations. Leader of the group is Prince Peter of Greece, a lieutenant colonel in the Greek Army.

Also scheduled for today was a tour of the vast Naval Air Technical Training Center at the Memphis Naval Air Station.

Yesterday the officers inspected the 164th Air National Guard Air Transport Group and the 115th National Guard Field Artillery Battalion.

Pretty Picture of Economy Is Painted

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate-House Economic Committee today predicted good times in 1964 as tax savings spread through the economy.

But it cautioned that either prices hikes by private producers or excessive budget cuts by the government could spoil the picture.

And the Republican minority of the committee accused President Johnson's administration of unduly heating up the economy this election year, and thus risking a bust later.

The committee of senators and House members presented its study of the President's annual economic report in two sharply contrasted sections, with the Republican criticism running almost three times as long as the majority document.

The Democratic majority found special encouragement in the timing of the tax cut enacted last week, saying it "will accelerate an existing expansion instead of being called upon to counteract recession."

The Democrats said Johnson has shown that economies can be made while still increasing spending on vital national needs, and they especially praised defense economies. But they also said "an increase in unemployment is too great a price to pay for balancing the budget."

The Republicans, accusing the administration of compiling "a dismal catalog of economic failures," said the economy was rebounding with the assistance of "the wise policies of the previous administration" when the Democrats took over in 1961 so that subsequent prosperity is largely veneer.

"In its anxiety to insure a particularly good economic performance in 1964, the Johnson administration... offers... an economic policy which, by its own admission, will heat up the economy this year more than three times greater than in any other peacetime year," the Republicans said.

This policy, the minority charged, is "inviting inflation and other excesses," especially when 119 major collective bargaining contracts are up for renewal and unions are seeking substantial wage increases.

The Republicans concluded that "rather than cutting spending—as he claims to have done—the President is increasing expenditures but at a less rapid rate than in recent years."

Leap Fails, Boy Falls to Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say a 15-year-old Bronx boy apparently tried to leap 15 feet between the roofs of two buildings and plunged five stories to his death.

An open tube of airplane glue, which has a narcotic effect when sniffed, was found on the roof from which Michael Vance apparently jumped, police report.

Psychiatrist to Examine Ruby Again

By RELMAN MORIN
DALLAS (AP) — A defense psychiatrist talked with Jack Ruby for more than an hour before court resumed today as the prosecution calls its first witness in Ruby's trial on a charge of murder with malice.

The third week of the trial began today with attorneys still trying to complete the jury.

Dr. Manfred Guttmacher, chief medical officer for the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, flew to Dallas Sunday night. He told newsmen that in addition to examining Ruby again, he wants to study the brain wave tracings taken on Ruby.

Guttmacher said he was with Ruby in a soundproof room from 7:30 till 8:50 a.m.

"I think he's deteriorated some," Guttmacher told newsmen. "He doesn't look as well as the last time I saw him."

Guttmacher examined Ruby last Dec. 21 and 22.

"He seems more anxious and more tense," the doctor said.

Eight men and two women have been sworn in as jurors. A special session Saturday failed to produce two more for the required panel of 12. In Texas, a 13th juror is not chosen as an alternate. If one of the 12 becomes incapacitated, the case becomes a mistrial.

Ruby's defense will be based on the claim that he was temporarily insane when he shot Lee Harvey Oswald in the Dallas City Hall.

Oswald, a Marxist, had been charged with assassinating President Kennedy. Ruby's lawyers indicate they will claim the assassination shocked Ruby into a mental "black out" and that he did not know right from wrong when he killed Oswald.

District Atty. Henry M. Wade will attempt to convince the jury that Ruby was and is sane. He will ask for death in the electric chair.

Among Wade's first witnesses will be J.R. Leavelle and L. C. Graves, the detectives who were walking beside Oswald when he was shot.

A list of 48 potential witnesses has been filed with Judge Joe B. Brown by the state, and Wade estimates he needs two days to present his case.

Ruby's lawyers, headed by Melvin Belli, said they have some 75 witnesses. Belli estimated it will be "three to four weeks" before the case goes to the jury.

Alabama Negro Seeking Office

JASPER, Ala. (AP)—For the first time since Reconstruction Day, a Negro is running for Congress from Alabama.

Mrs. Amelia P. Boynton of Selma qualified Saturday to oppose Rep. Kenneth Roberts of Aniston under the state's unique 9-8 elimination plan used to select Democratic nominees.

Alabama lost a congressional seat and was unable to reach agreement on redistricting. So each of the old nine districts nominates a candidate in the May 5 Democratic primary and the winners enter a runoff June 2 with the eight high candidates getting the nomination.

Mrs. Boynton, a native of Savannah, Ga., is an insurance agent in Selma.

Johnson to Press for Stamp Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's forthcoming special message on poverty is expected to put much emphasis on ways the government can help low-income rural residents meet feed needs pending progress in providing them with better income opportunities.

He is expected to ask congress to authorize a food stamp plan on a nationwide basis. It is now being carried on under a so-called pilot program in 40 counties and 3 cities, including Independence County, Ark. In his recent farm message, the President made a similar recommendation, but the House Agriculture Committee rejected a bill to carry out the proposal.

The President also is expected to request federal funds to help low-income rural school districts buy equipment for school lunches. Many are unable to give their children the benefit of this government-sponsored program because of a lack of facilities.

Agriculture Department officials said there are a number of unfilled gaps in its program for aiding the poor in rural areas. They speculated that some of these gaps may be covered in the Johnson poverty message.

No other details were immediately available.

Mba was turned out by a coup d'etat Feb. 18 but intervention by French troops restored him to power before the provisional government could take control.

The demonstrators began Sunday and continued this morning.

Bobcats Fail in Bid for Tournament

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Bobcats bombed out Saturday night 70-67 before a last period onslaught of the Crossett Eagles, dropping both their last scheduled game of the season and a first place tie with Malvern.

The Leopards, leading the round robin going into their last game, fell to Camden 61-53 at Camden. The Panthers ended up with a 4-4 record, the same as Hope's. Malvern will host the District Tourney because of their 9-3 first place record.

Hope kept pace with the Eagles for the First Quarter, and going into the second the score was tied up at 15 all.

Crossett slipped in a extra point just before the buzzer and went to the dressing room with a 23-27 advantage over the Bobcats.

Hope came storming back wildly during the Third Quarter and led 52-46 going into the final.

The Eagles began to build up a full head of steam. Starting the Fourth, the Bobcats were being hurt. Johnny Honeycutt hadn't been able to play because of a knee injury, and Dan Jones was out with five fouls. Now Jerry Burnett fouled out, and Paul Henley and Mike Archer were both playing under the handicap of four fouls on them.

Crossett finally managed to slip into the lead. They kept it. Final score was 70-67.

Paul Henley was high scorer with 19 points and Burnett had 15. James Conner, the 6'7" sophomore, scored 26 for Crossett. He scored only 12 against the Cats on their previous meeting. Coach Billy Mitchell pointed this out as having a bearing on the way the game went.

In the evening's opener, Hope "B" team pulled their match out of the fire by the score of 56-54.

Buddy Jordan paced them to their win with 25 points, and Dennis Ramsey scored 15.

In the District Tournament at Malvern, the Bobcats will play Thursday night. Their opposition will be either Fairview or Magnolia.

Perry's Truck Stop independent basketball team was defeated 90 to 75 by Red River Arsenal of Texarkana Friday night in the semi-finals of the Fouke Invitational tournament.

Dannie Hatfield scored 20, David Brown 16 and Delton Hatfield 14 for Perry's. John's hit for 29, Scoggins 21 and Duke 20 for Red River.

Paul Hewitt Independents won the tournament Saturday night with a 71 to 63 victory over Red River. In the consolation game, Lone Star downed Redwater 97 to 83.

Perry's will enter the Liberty-Eylau independent tournament starting tonight and play Lone Star of Texarkana.

Rudolph Has Lead Over Nicklaus

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mason Rudolph goes into today's final round of the $50,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament with a four-stroke advantage over big Jack Nicklaus.

Tied for the lead the first day, Rudolph too sole possession of first place the second day and kept it Sunday. His 54-hole score was 68-71-70—208.

Nicklaus, who rates the Lake-wood Country Club course, at 7,020 yards, as one of the six toughest on the PGA tour, carded an erratic 72 Sunday.

Wes Ellis Jr. stood one stroke behind Nicklaus with a 213 after shaving five strokes off par Sunday with a 67—best round of the tournament.

Rudolph threatened to run away with the lead until he came to the 18th hole, a long par four. For the first time Sunday, he missed a green.

Nicklaus was the only one of golfing's elite to fare well.

Arnold Palmer, nearing the half-million dollar mark in winnings, scrambled to a 72 with what he called a very miserable round.

Palmer was tied at 219 with Julius Boros. U.S. Open champion, who will turn 44 Tuesday. Boros carded a 73.

Tourney Field Not All a Bed of Roses

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Playing the big time golf circuit is not all gold and glamor as most people suppose, says South Africa's Gary Player. It can be a gruelling rat race full of heartache and frustration.

"Sometimes, I feel so exhausted, so whipped out, so dulled that I think I can't go on, but I always do," the articulate craftsman from Johannesburg lamented today. "I find myself in a daze, just playing from habit."

These are the hazards of success in modern professional golf, Player added, affecting any player who happens to reach the top, such as Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros and Jack Nicklaus.

"It wouldn't be so bad if we could just concentrate on our golf," the little man in perpetual black said. "But that is impossible. The more tournaments you win, the faster goes the merry-go-round, and the harder it is to get off."

"There are personal appearances, exhibitions, filmed television shows and business enterprises connected with the game."

"In the past five years, I've got I haven't had five weeks off. I am just 28, still pretty young, but at times I feel like a tired old man."

This time a year ago Player was rated one of golf's big three along with Palmer and Nicklaus, but since has slipped from such top billing. Although he won $55,000 last year and had the best scoring average, 70.404, he didn't take a major title.

He finished out of the money for the first time since 1962 in the Tucson Open last month.

Player said he believes the same pressures, but greater, are affecting the game of Palmer, who also has failed to win a major crown since capturing the Masters and British Open in 1962.

Player said he finds himself always in a mad rush, as if the world is going to end tomorrow. "I eat fast, I talk fast, I dress fast," he added. "I'm always on the go."

"My golf suffers, because I can't relax. Sometimes I feel I am just going through the motions. And that's no good."

"I'm not going to let it happen to me. Next year, I'm going to play six months and rest six with my wife and four fine children."

Yes, Gary, it's always next year.

Hopes Wichita Will Take the NCAA Tourney

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

National Invitation Tournament officials have nothing against the Wichita basketball team, but they're hoping the Wheelshockers go to the NCAA tournament.

That's why the NIT selectors will be rooting for the Shockers tonight in their Missouri Valley Conference game with North Texas State.

If that's confusing, consider the tournament situation from Wichita's standpoint. Under a conference penalty, fifth-ranked Wichita can play in the NCAA if it wins the MVC championship, but it can't play in the NIT under any circumstances.

To win the league title, the Shockers first must beat North Texas. That would put them into a first-place tie with Drake. A playoff Friday at Lawrence, Kan., then would decide the NCAA representative.

That brings the situation back to the NIT. If Wichita wins the NCAA berth, the NIT instantly would invite Drake. But if the Bulldogs win, the NIT would lose both teams.

The strange ban was placed on Wichita last Aug. 29 for an allegedly illegal recruiting maneuver. The MVC fined Wichita $1,000 and imposed a two-year ban against post-season competition in "other than NCAA sponsored and sanctioned events."

League Commissioner Norval Neve later explained that meant the NIT.

While awaiting further developments, though, the NIT is moving ahead in filling some of the six remaining spots in the March 12-21 tournament. The selection committee was expected to name two teams today, most likely St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Miami, Fla.

Four teams moved into the two tournaments Saturday. Army became the sixth NIT entrant following its 75-55 triumph over Navy while the addition of Kentucky, Virginia Military and Murray State left the NCAA with nine teams to go.

At least seven of the nine spots will be filled this week.

Other leading prospects who can clinch berths this week are Princeton, Texas A&M, Ohio Univ. and Arizona State. Michigan and Kansas State also could enter the NCAA this week, but it's also possible they'll have to wait until next Monday.

Virginia Military, a consistent loser in the basketball wars, ignited the loudest explosion in entering the NCAA by way of the Southern Conference championship.

VMI's 61-56 victory over George Washington in the conference final Saturday night gave the Keydets a 12-11 record.

That marked the first time in 21 years and the third in 34 that VMI finished the regular season with a winning record. The 12 victories also represent the most a VMI team has won in the 50-year history of the sport at the school.

Needless to say, the league crown and NCAA spot also were the first for the Keydets.

Virginia Military's unconditional triumph easily overshadowed the victories of the nine of the top ten teams that played. Seventh-ranked Davidson had completed its season abruptly Friday night, losing to VMI.

UCLA, No. 1, coasted to its 24th victory without a defeat, trampling Washington State 93-56. Cotton Nash scored only five points, but second-ranked Kentucky, 21-3, won the Southeastern Conference title with a 42-38 decision over Tennessee.

Michigan maintained its first-place tie with Ohio State in the Big Ten by outlasting Illinois 89-83. The nation's No. 3 team now is 19-3. Fourth-ranked Duke, 20-4, wallowed North Carolina 104-69 in its last game before the ACC playoffs.

Wichita, No. 5, increased its record to 20-5 with a 98-79 decision over Tulsa. Sixth-ranked Oregon State finished its season by downing Oregon 85-71 for its 25th triumph in 28 contests.

Villanova, the No. 8 team with a 21-3 record, whipped Temple 67-60 in a battle of NCAA-bound teams while ninth-ranked DePaul, 20-2, whipped Duquesne 84-65 in a game involving NIT teams.

Loyola of Chicago, No. 10, toyed with Marshall 117-63 for its 19th victory against five losses.

UCLA hosts California tonight in the unbeaten team's next-to-last regular season games while Kentucky closes its regular season with St. Louis.

Porks Again Lose Out at Charity Line

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

They wrap up the Southwest Conference basketball season this week, even if there is a playoff.

The playoff doesn't appear likely. Texas A&M, leading the race by two games over Texas Tech, would have to lose both of its remaining tests—against Texas Christian at Fort Worth Tuesday and Texas at College Station Thursday.

Then, Texas Tech would have to win its last two games—against Rice at Lubbock Tuesday and Baylor at Waco Thursday.

But if that did come about, Texas A&M and Tech would clash at Dallas Saturday to determine the NCAA representative for the Midwest regional. This will be Dallas Monday night when the Southwest Conference representative plays Texas Western and Creighton meets Oklahoma City University.

The Aggies beat Texas Tech 82-70 and Southern Methodist 75-70 last week to clinch at least a tie for the championship. They can sew it up by winning over winless Texas Christian Tuesday night. Or they could even lose that one should Texas Tech stumble before Rice.

Tech beat Arkansas 87-86 Saturday night to remain in the running for a share of the title.

There are eight games closing out the campaign this week. In addition to A&M's and Texas Tech's two, Southern Methodist and Baylor tangle at Dallas while Arkansas and Texas play at Austin Tuesday. Southern Methodist and Rice close out at Houston and Texas Christian and Arkansas meet at Fayetteville Thursday.

Kondall Rhine of Rice appears to have clinched the season scoring championship with 531 points in 22 games for a 24.1 average. Bennie Lenox of Texas A&M is second with 460.

The conference scoring race, however, is still somewhat up in the air. Rhine lead Lenox by only 14 points.

Lakers Regain Lead in Pro Cage Ranks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers have regained their National Basketball Association touch, but their Western Division title appears certain to pass into the hot hands of San Francisco's Warriors.

Jerry West and Elgin Baylor clicked for 68 points between them as the Lakers manhandled St. Louis 114-91 Sunday night and virtually locked up a sectional playoff berth.

But the Lakers failed to gain ground on the Warriors, who crushed Detroit 100-86 and stretched their Western lead to 3½ games over second-place St. Louis.

Boston and Cincinnati, running one-two in the Eastern race, matched victories in mail-nue games. The Celtics topped Philadelphia 108-93 and the Royals edged Baltimore 122-111.

The still-scrambled Eastern picture should clear up after the Celts and Royals meet in a home-and-home Wednesday and Thursday. Boston has a 2½ game spread over the Royals.

West drove through St. Louis for 37 points and Baylor added 31 after four Hawks got into early foul trouble. Cliff Hagan had 25 for the Hawks. Los Angeles now leads fourth-place Baltimore by 6½ games in the scrap for the last Western playoff spot.

Wilt Chamberlain's 38 points paced the Warriors, whose roster is down to eight men after a series of injuries. Tom Meschery contributed 22 points as the Warriors handed Detroit its 52nd loss, assuring the Pistons of their first cellar finish.

Jones Just Repeating Himself

By BOB GREEN

So how's this as a way to bow out: 55 consecutive victories and an indoor record?

"I've done about all an amateur can do," veteran Hayes Jones said after racking up the two wind-up marks in Baltimore's All-Eastern Invitational indoor track and field games Saturday night.

"Now I find I'm just repeating myself."

And that he is. In fact, he's repeated himself 55 times. He's gone through that many indoor hurdles championships without a loss, a string that stretches back to 1959.

His last, however, was his best. He flashed over the 60-yard high hurdles in 6.8 seconds, lowering his own indoor standard by one-tenth of a second.

Jones, who had announced earlier that he would retire after the Olympic games in Tokyo this fall, said after the meet it would be his last indoor performance.

Jones' record was one of four indoor marks set in the busy weekend. Tammy Davis of Frederick, Md., set another in Baltimore, the Maryland State mile relay team added another in Louisville and Yale's Wendell Motley got still another at Ithaca, N.Y.

And John Thomas, on the rebound from a couple of mediocre seasons, almost got another. The Boston high jumper won his specialty at Baltimore with a 7-foot-2 leap, his best of the winter.

Miss Davis, a 16-year-old, lowered the women's 50-yard indoor hurdles mark to 6.4.

In Ithaca, Motley raced to a 1:09.2 record in the 600-yard run in the Heptagonal games, trimming one-tenth of a second off the listed mark by George Kerr of the West Indies.

Maryland State's quartet of Robert Brown, Hatley Morris, Edwin Skinner and Earl Rogers flashed over the lightning fast eight-lap track in Louisville to a 3:11.7 mile, breaking the 3:12.2 by Texas Southern.

Class A Teams Start Grind

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The best of the state's Class A and Class B high school basketball teams start a week-long battle today for top spot in the two division tournaments.

The Class A schedule today: Walnut Ridge vs. Waldo, Marianna vs. Charleston and Rector vs. Perryville; Class B: Mountain Home vs. Drew Central, Monticello vs. Brinkley and Mulberry vs. Ashdown.

Three games in each class will be played Tuesday, two Wednesday, and quarterfinals start Wednesday night. Finals in both classes are Saturday night.
